SATURDAY EVENING, SEPTEMBER 6

Reports of improved business prospects and of the revival of various branches of trade resound from all sections of the country. A betterment in these respects is also apparent in Alexandria, but by no means equal to the extent of that noticed in some other cities. People here have gotten into old grooves, in which it seems they are either content to remain or find it impossible to get out of. But their condition is rapidly approaching a point at which it will be necessary for them to emerge from the business slough into which they have fallen or be willing to see their investments here become not only unprofitable, but even worthless. Idleness and idleness is all they want to give an impetus to business that will soon start the city on a march so progressive that all obstacles will be overcome. What one man or one firm cannot accomplish, a company of men can, and there are many paths which, if entered upon now, at the commencement of the general revival of business, will surely lead to fortune. Virginia iron is carried through here daily to Pennsylvania to be manufactured there. The same is true of gold ore. Various kinds of wood are shipped from the Potomac river to the North, to be manufactured there into such articles as have a ready sale here. Grain is purchased here and shipped elsewhere to be made into breadstuffs, when there is an idle mill here capable of turning out eight hundred barrels of flour a day. A large and thoroughly equipped cotton factory is here waiting for somebody to operate it. The market abounds with fruit, vegetables and oysters, which could be canned cheaper than in Baltimore, and for which there is always a ready market. These are only a few of the numerous lines of business that could be saved here with the certainty of rich returns to all engaged in them, and why people cannot be found to start them is, as our Washington correspondent said the other day, really surprising. There never was a time when business enterprise, judiciously and energetically conducted, would be more profitable than now, or a place in which they could be carried on more economically and successfully than in Alexandria.

If, as now seems probable, California has elected a congressional delegation the majority of which is republican, the election of the next President, should that election devolve upon the House of Representatives, as is not impossible, will depend upon the vote of Mr. D. L. Mayr. There will be nineteen republican and nineteen democratic States, provided Mr. D. L. Mayr votes with the democrats, which, judging from some of his votes lately, is by no means certain. If then, in the contingency to which we refer, he votes with the democratic party, defeat is from which elected him, there will be a tie, which will not be broken until the Senate shall elect a Vice President, who will be President. But should he vote, as many think he will, with the republicans, and thus give the vote of Indiana to that party, because the delegation from that State numbers thirteen democrats, six republicans, and himself—the republicans will have no difficulty in electing their candidate at once, for they will then have twenty States, while the democrats will have only eighteen. All this possible danger could have been avoided if the democrats of California, like the republicans of that State, who stood by their colors, had not been silly enough to suffer themselves to be lured away from the ranks to which they belonged by such wild and pernicious vagaries as these promulgated by the Kearneyites and their exponents, the honorable bill.

As this is a free country the democrats of New York have a right to squabble and fight among themselves as much as they choose, provided they don't carry their warfare to the extent of breaking the peace, but it is more than probable that if they could realize the degree to which contempt and disgust for them has been raised in the minds of men of their party, outside of New York, by their never ending dissensions, they would agree to settle their differences, at least until after the next presidential election. The democratic party of the country doesn't care a fig whether Tammany or anti-Tammany wins, or whether Kelly or Tilden can carry the New York banners, but it does want to defeat radicalism and put a stop to the fraud and corruption carried on under the radical regime, and it reasons and contends those who, while professing to be democrats, have so little regard for the interests of the democratic party that they allow their petty and disgraceful personal quarrels to defeat the success of its exalted aims.

The Valley Virginian says "Gen. Wm. Payne, of Fauquier, is spoken of as a candidate for the Legislature, as a flatter from Loudoun and Manassas, with a view of entering the contest for United States Senator Withers' shoes. If Colonel Withers is not his own successor, the Valley wants that place, and is going to have it or a row." If we are not greatly in error the Valley had a U. S. Senator not very long ago who, unless he is so unfortunate as to be misrepresented, gave pledges, before his election, to support the conservative party of Virginia upon the floor of the Senate and elsewhere, which pledges he failed to redeem after taking his seat. Does the Valley Virginian recall his name?

Miss Annie M. Barnes, editor of a charming little monthly, published at Atlanta, Ga., is in our city, where, we hope, she will not only meet encouragement for her paper, but the kindly courtesy for herself which she evidently deserves. The writer recognizes in her boy and girl correspondents some of the best names in South Carolina, North Carolina and Georgia. We wish the pretty little sheet devoted to "The Good, the Beautiful and the True," and its accomplished editor and proprietor, Miss Barnes, all possible success.

We acknowledge the receipt of an invitation to attend the State Fair at Richmond.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Evidence of a remarkable revival of business are found in every department of trade.

August Beck, a well known and prominent brewer of Baltimore, died yesterday afternoon, aged fifty years.

The cable laying steamer Faraday is now returning to Europe to ship the section of the cable which is to connect St. Pierre with New York.

At the request of the United States Government two cadet engineers from Annapolis Naval Academy will be admitted to the Royal Naval College at Greenwich as students next month.

Congressman Wright's Labor Committee found no trade depression in the West, and that the best trials of the Chinese were the ones with which California workmen find the most fault.

Elmer Seely, pursuer of the Pacific mail steamer Crescent City, has been missing for several days. He had the key of the safe in his possession, and when the lack was found it was found that $9,000 had disappeared.

At the general term of the New York Supreme Court yesterday forty-nine attorneys and forty-nine counsellors from the Third, Fourth, and Fifth Judicial districts were admitted to practice.

While George Waterfield was sitting on the porch of a hotel at Edgewood village, Pa., Thursday evening, he was shot in the breast and killed by Thos. Hillman, who was proceeding with a rifle half a mile distant.

Gov. Governor Seymour has declined to be a delegate to the New York State Democratic Convention. He regrets that any dissensions should have grown up in the party, and hopes that all will unite in conducting a ticket which will promote its best interests.

The Marquis de Lorne and Princess Louise, with the rest of the viceregal party, arrived in Toronto yesterday, and were received with great formality and pomp. The Governor General formally opened the exhibition, and the Princess planted a tree near the pavilion with a silver spade.

Hon. John Kerr, Judge of the Superior Court in the Fifth district of North Carolina, died last night, aged about seventy years. Before the war Judge Kerr represented his district in the United States House of Representatives, and was one of the most eloquent and fluent orators in the State. He was a native of Virginia.

At the Cabinet meeting yesterday the Secretary of War submitted the question regarding the furnishing of rations to persons in camp near Memphis. It was decided that aid extended in this direction by Federal authority must be within the scope of the recent act of Congress, and must have the approval of the National Board of Health.

Peace prevails throughout the republic of Mexico. The Municipal Council of the City of Mexico has formally asked the councils of other cities to initiate measures for raising funds to pay the next instalment of the American debt, and the President has ordered the National Treasury to set aside $1,000 daily for the same purpose.

Captain General Bland, of Cuba, has been authorized to draw against the Spanish Treasury for $50,000. Official information from Havana and Santiago de Cuba, represents that perfect tranquility prevails among the inhabitants of the surrounding country. The principal chief of the old insurrection remains loyal to the government.

The trial of Henry J. Galt for the murder of Colonel Chisholm commenced yesterday at the Court House. Mr. Galt's counsel made motions to quash the venue for seventy-five jurors, issued last Tuesday, for a defect of the copy of the indictment served on the accused. This was overruled by the court, and the special venire was called, and four jurors were selected, two black and two white.

The Fall River Savings Bank has placed attachments on the real estate of Spencer and Jefferson Burdon, who are involved in the failure of their father, Jefferson Burdon, already announced. Spencer Burdon's liabilities are stated at $7,000, partly secured by satisfactory collateral, and his assets $18,000. He is transferred of the Fall River, New Brunswick, and is not affected by his father's failure. Jefferson Burdon, Jr., has liabilities of $13,000, and no pledged assets of more than that sum.

In the Supreme Court at Kingston, N. Y., yesterday, a petition was filed for the appointment of a trustee of the property of Mrs. Catharine Chase Sprague, and a citation was served on Wm. Sprague, returnable to-day at Providence.

The following is the petition: "The Honorable the Supreme Court of the State of Rhode Island, sitting at Providence, Catharine Chase Sprague, of South Kingston, in the county of Washington, in said State, wife of William Sprague, of said South Kingston, by her next friend, Charles H. Parkhurst, of Providence, in said State, petitioners, pray that the court will appoint a trustee of her real and personal property owned in South Kingston, aforesaid, is liable, in value and under title, that her said husband, Wm. Sprague, and herself are not now living together as husband and wife; whereas she prays that your honors will appoint some suitable person or persons as trustee or trustees of her said property with all the powers and subject to all the liabilities prescribed in chapter 152 of the general statutes. And I, as in duty bound, will ever pray."

CATHERINE CHASE SPRAGUE. "By her next friend, Charles H. Parkhurst." There are good reasons for believing that this matter was a prearranged one, and that a vigorous fight will be made by Gov. Sprague. This is thought to be only the beginning of a long and bitter contest.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., September 6.—The petition of Mrs. Kate Chase Sprague for the appointment of a trustee for her property came up in the Supreme Court to-day, and next Wednesday was assigned for the hearing.

Battle of Yorktown. A large meeting of the citizens of York County was held at Yorktown on Thursday for the purpose of adopting preliminary measures looking to a grand celebration of the coming centennial of the surrender of Cornwallis in 1881.

A preamble and resolutions were adopted looking to the military and civil societies of the State and the municipal authorities of the cities of the Commonwealth the propriety of participating in the coming celebration, and calling on them to co-operate in initiating a movement on the 19th of October next that will lead to a grand centennial celebration on the 19th of October, 1881.

The Governor of the State is requested to issue a proclamation recommending to the people the propriety of the movement, and inviting the Governors of other States to take such action as may conduce to this object, and participate with the people of Virginia in the same. The Secretary of the Navy is asked to order the vessels composing the fleet which is to be reviewed in Hampton Roads in October to be present in York River, in front of Yorktown, in order to take part in the celebration, and the Secretary of War that the troops at Fort Monroe be permitted to participate in the military demonstrations at Yorktown. It was further recommended that delegates from all the States be appointed to meet in Philadelphia on the coming anniversary, in order to form a National association, the object of which is to bring about a successful celebration of the centennial, and recommending the appointment by the Governor of delegates to attend the same.

In the court room at Culpeper Courthouse on Tuesday during the examination of witnesses for the Commonwealth in the Jamieson trial, Dr. A. V. M. Triplett, who was on the stand was being cross-examined by Col. J. C. Gibson, counsel for the defense, when unpleasant words passed between them, and while but for the timely interference of the sheriff, might have led to a scene more serious. Both gentlemen were bound over by the court to keep the peace for six months under a bond of $500 each.

Some excitement was occasioned in Culpeper Co. H., last Saturday by an assault upon a negro man by A. C. Bell, a young attorney of that place. Excitement was taken by Bell to the evidence of the negro man in the Jamieson case and after the court adjourned for the day the attorney met the witness on the street and struck him over the head with a cane, inflicting a severe wound. The parties were taken before the Mayor, who decreed a case of assault and battery, and issued a warrant for the arrest of the assailant. The case was then taken before Justice Nalls, who, after hearing the testimony, fined the attorney $10 and costs, and bound him over to keep the peace for six months in the penalty of $50. Brooks swore out a warrant against Mr. J. C. Bell as an abettor, who was also bound over to keep the peace. On Monday last Mr. A. C. Bell appeared at Justice Nalls' office with Mr. James B. Roberts as counsel, and took an appeal from the decision to the county court.

The following telegram was sent to W. J. Smith, president of the Howard association: "New York, September 5.—I send you by telegraph $50,000 to aid the Howard association. I am certain the generous people throughout the country will contribute liberally to aid your stricken city. At any rate keep on in your noble work till I tell you to stop, and I will foot the bill. What are your daily expenses?" Answer. Signed, Jay Gould.

Five cases of the fever were sent to the quarantine hospital at New York yesterday—three from Kingston, Jamaica, and two from Cape Hayti.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—A special to the Times from Memphis, Tenn., states: The appeal made by the Howells to the people of the whole country for contributions of aid has been variously criticized in all circles to-day. It is held by some that the wealthy of Memphis and of the State should have at first been appealed to, and when that source was exhausted, and the need for assistance still existed, then the general appeal should have been made. Others argue that the wealthy people of Memphis are cognate of the straitened circumstances of the Howard association, and are perfectly familiar with the existing distress, and their failure to come to their relief indicates a direct refusal to assist.

MEMPHIS, Sept. 6.—Five new cases of yellow fever were reported to the board of health this morning. Five deaths have occurred since last night, among the number being Daniel A. Pikes. W. T. B. Rice is in a critical condition. The weather is clear and warm.

Stuart's road, have all been decided in favor of the former, which now has the right to fix the time of the sale of the property and franchises of the latter to satisfy the executors against it. About twenty-five miles of the former road have been graded.

FROM AFGHANISTAN.

SIMLA, Sept. 6.—On the night of the 4th instant a messenger reached Ali Khyul with news that the British Embassy at Kabul had been attacked by several Afghan regiments, and that the escort of the embassy were defending themselves. The troops at Ali Khyul were ordered to move instantly on Samargandian pass, and instructions were dispatched to Gen. Roberts and Stewart to advance on Kabul.

Letters from the American Legation at Kabul confirm the report of the attack. He was completely surprised. The point was found in the morning's raid, and the embassy was attacked by over a hundred men. At the latest accounts the Viceroy of India was ignorant of the fate of the members of the embassy.

SIMLA, Sept. 6.—At a late hour of Thursday night a messenger, traveling post haste, reached Ali Khyul, from Kabul, and informed Mr. G. G. Campbell, the British Political Agent, that the British embassy at Kabul, had been attacked by several Afghan regiments, which had as a result of the attack, demanding the arrears of their pay, and that the military escort of the embassy were defending themselves. The Viceroy of India immediately ordered the troops at Ali Khyul to move instantly upon Samargandian Pass. Gen. Roberts had been ordered to proceed to the Peshawar Pass and advance on Kabul while General Stewart had been ordered to hold Candahar. All the British forces on the Candahar line were concentrated at Candahar. The forces of the Afghan Government were being strongly reinforced and will operate on Jellalabad. Mr. G. G. Campbell telegraphed on Friday night the substance of letters received from the American Legation, who confirms the intelligence of the result and adds that the regiments which have attacked were joined by the populace. The American arsenal and stores were first plundered and destroyed, and the British embassy was then attacked by overwhelming numbers.

The American Legation at Kabul was completely surprised by the attack. It endeavored to quell it, and sent General Dushak to Mr. J. Campbell's assistance, but Gen. Dushak was unhurt and fatally wounded. The American Legation sent his son with the Governor of Kabul and other influential persons, but the mob was wholly unmanageable. The attack on the British embassy continued throughout Wednesday, when a fire broke out on the premises. The American Legation on Thursday says he is in great distress and is himself besieged. The Viceroy of India is at present ignorant of the fate of General Campbell and the other members of the embassy. Gen. Roberts has already started for the Peshawar pass. The advance on Kabul will be made very speedily and will be strongly supported. The Viceroy's military secretary accompanied Gen. Roberts.

Dushak was unhurt and fatally wounded. The American Legation sent his son with the Governor of Kabul and other influential persons, but the mob was wholly unmanageable. The attack on the British embassy continued throughout Wednesday, when a fire broke out on the premises. The American Legation on Thursday says he is in great distress and is himself besieged. The Viceroy of India is at present ignorant of the fate of General Campbell and the other members of the embassy. Gen. Roberts has already started for the Peshawar pass. The advance on Kabul will be made very speedily and will be strongly supported. The Viceroy's military secretary accompanied Gen. Roberts.

The American Legation at Kabul was completely surprised by the attack. It endeavored to quell it, and sent General Dushak to Mr. J. Campbell's assistance, but Gen. Dushak was unhurt and fatally wounded. The American Legation sent his son with the Governor of Kabul and other influential persons, but the mob was wholly unmanageable.
